When a mere girl she made up her mind that in no way could she so well serve her Lord and the people among whom she had cast her fortunes as by becoming a skilful physician, for in all Eastern countries the ignorance, super-stition and adherence to ancient cus-toms which surround illness of any kind is stupendous. Particularly have the poor women suffered from all this, for feminine life has ever been held rather lightly among the Orientals, and the rigid ideas entertained with regard to the separation of the sexes has made such a thing as the medical services of a man doctor in attendance upon one of them not to be entertained for an instant. Dr. Eddy was shocked at the nnnecessary loss of life which she saw going on all around her, and lost no time in fortifying herself with the means to prevent this. After receiving diplomas from several medical instituions in New York Dr. Eddy returned to Syria and entered upon her lifework. By infinite tact and natural charm of manner she succeeded in winning the confidence of the people, and now is known from one end of the Ottoman Empire to the other. Dr. Eddy's patients embrace people of all races and conditions, from the families of the rich officials in Constantinoule to the poor. officials in Constantinople to the poor, wandering Bedouins of the deserts of Arabia, She has traveled over the country a great deal, taking with her a large dispensary tent, in which, thru her skill, many thousands of lives have been saved. As is well known, tuberculosis is the great scourge of the East. No disease is so greatly dreaded by the natives as this. Particularly is this the case in Syria, where its victims are feared than lepers or those suffering from the most contagious malties of pure air and plenty of it.

This pretty little story comes to us from The Hague: The other day a soldier stood on guard in the palace gardens, and noticed a white baby carriage, pushed by a very fine-looking nurse, approaching him. A perambulator anywhere around that particular royal mansion was such an unexpected sight that for a moment the guard stared at that for a moment the guard stared at the country for his voluminous writings. He was another illustration of how under our institutions places of the venture within the sacred precincts.
Then it occurred to him that it was the little "Orange Bud," as the people of Holland have dubbed the royal Princess, Juliana, taking her first airing, and he came to this conclusion just in time to straighten up and salute the little lady as she was pushed past him. Princess Juliana was all unconscious of this mark of respect paid her royal sta-tion, for she was cuddled down on her soft, lace-trimmed pillow, sound asleep, but her reinand

The English suffragists, by the way, are very indignant just at present over the refusal of the Royal Academy to admit a portrait of the celebrated young suffragist leader, Miss Christobel Pankhurst. It will be remembered that this young lady, said to be quite handsome young lady, said to be quite handsome and filled with fiery zeal for the cause, ferved out a sentence in jail with her mother a short time ago. The portrait represents Miss Pankhurst standing in a rich dress of simple lines, wearing the badge of the cause for which she has so courageously fought. Her arms are extended in graceful position, her head, with the charming, intelligent face, is thrown back a little giving the impression of great vitality and force, and her mouth is open as if speaking. It looks as if the Embassadorship to the Court of St. James was going a-beg-ging, to a certain extent. At the time of President Taft's inauguration it was announced that the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, who has represented us at that Reid, who has represented us at that court with so much spectacular magnificence, would retain his position but six months longer. Then began a survey of the field to find some one suitable to take his place, and for awhile it looked as if Dr. Charles Eliot, Harvard's ex-President, would be the man. Later it was said that Dr. Eliot had declined the honor for various reasons; but largely, it was thought, on account of his inability to keep up the style and splendor established by Embassador Reid. Now it is rumored the position has been offered to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia, a writer splendor established by Embassador Reid. Now it is rumored the position has been offered to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia, a writer of note and a man of distinguished appearance and gifts. He is several years younger than Dr. Eliot, and would seem to be specially fitted for the post. But Dr. Butler is not a rich man, and it is feared that he, too, may decline on account of the financial outlay the position demands. While Dr. Eddy can give her personal attention to only a comparatively few of the great army of sufferers from tuberculosis, she has done a world of good in waking up the people to a comprehension of what they can themselves do to ward off or at least retard its advance. For some strange reason the people of the East seem to regard the pure air of heaven as especially deadly, and become cunningly ingenious in shutting it out of their homes at night. A sight not soon to be forgotten by an American woman while riding over the palm-bordered, moon-swept street of Agam, the Capital of our little island of Guam, was the thatched huts of the natives, stretched along both sides, shut up so tightly that not a breath of the soft air of the tropical night could reach their interiors, where disease was holding high carnival. Thanks to our energetic Navy doctors, all this has been greatly changed, and in like manner has Dr. Eddy waked the people of Syria up to an understanding of the necessity for ventilation and of the curative properties of pure air and plenty of it. that the dogs of war might be forever chained, and the dove of peace allowed Drive Rheumatism Out of your blood at once and do not give it a chance to longed Rheumatic condition of the blood interferes with the Heart's functions and is the principal cause of Organic Heart Troubles. The history of cases of sudden deaths from Heart Failure proves that ninety per cent of the persons stricken had been afflicted with Rheumatism. All the blood in your body must; sthrough the Heart, over and over again, hundreds of times during every twenty-four hours. Rheumatism is caused by the presence of Uric Acid Crystals in the blood and such a condition of the blood irritates the valves of the Heart, upon which life depends. If the Rheumatic condition lasts, the injury gradually grows more extensive year after year, until the entire structure of the valves is changed.

It is the same as the hands of workers become hard and calloused, the skin in places like pieces of horn, from continual contact with irritating substances. The Heart Valves become hard and stiff, the same as Rheumatic joints, instead of soft and pliable, are unable to work properly, and in time this inability causes sudden death. If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, you must drive the Uric Acid from your blood, for your very life's sake as well as your comfort and peace of mind and body. G. A. R. MAN'S Glorious Experience.

Lakewood, N. J. My first attack of Rheumatism was in 1863, during the war. The doctors treated it as a sprain in my ankle. It would be driven away from said place and lodge in my knee. Before I learned of Kuhn's Rheu-matic Remedy, I had taken as high as nine different medicines in one day trying to get some relief. I took everything in the line of Rheumatic Cures and really did not care much whether I lived or died, I was in such constant misery. I had taken only three teaspoons of Kuhn's Reumatic Remedy when I fett the good effect and have improved ever since. I have had the Rheumatism for 35 years and every year of the 35, but I am now getting along spiendidly, work every day and it is all due to that faithful medicine of yours. Certainly a light came from Heaven to show me the way to it. Everyone came from Heaven to show me the way to it. Everyone (doctors, friends, etc.,) are surprised to see me going around as I am. I am sending you one of my photos and am giad to give you the privilege of using my name as an endorsement for this great remedy. J. Quicker.

PERMANENTLY CURED FOUR YEARS AGO.

WATERLOO, IOWA—After suffering about six months with Inflammatory Rheumatism, during which time I used numerous remedies and treatments from which I received no permanent benefit. I noticed the advertisement for Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy and decided to send for a bottle. The first bottle convinced me that it would help me and I ordered a second and then a third bottle. The three bottles did the work and my Rheumatism is a thing of the past. I now cannot say too much for this remedy and have freely recommended it to others during the last four years, for it is now four years since my cure. W.-f. Keller, 1127 Jefferson St.
